

Dear Colleagues:

This week we take the time to recognize the hard work, dedication and commitment of staff as part of deferred Public Service Week 2020 celebrations. We also acknowledge the achievements of individuals and divisions who have demonstrated exemplary leadership, innovation and creativity in carrying out their work and supporting Islanders.

Public Service Week is an opportunity to remind ourselves of how far we have come and how much we have accomplished together. This past year has been unlike any other. More specifically, these past six months have challenged us in unimaginable ways. We have been able to navigate these uncharted waters and be there for Islanders when they've needed us most because of your resilience. There has been no better example of the commitment of our public service than the quick and thoughtful public response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

I am proud of what we have been able to do in the face of adversity, and I am humbled by your passion for serving Islanders and commitment to supporting each other. As we celebrate Public Service Week, I share with you my heartfelt appreciation on behalf of Islanders for all that you do to make our communities and province better every day.

Have a wonderful Public Service Week!

Honourable Dennis King
Premier of Prince Edward Island
